

The Start of a Great week...

On Sunday we met at the Cologne Railway station. We drove to Hamburg where we walked around in groups while doing a competition. The competition was about how good you know Hamburg's history and its historical buildings. It was really cold and windy but we had fun anyway. In the evening we went to a restaurant to get dinner. After the delicious food we went to the railway station and boarded the night train. The sleeping cabin was really tiny. Because we couldn't sleep at first we played Maumau. After the game we went sleeping.
